

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A telescoping form for forming a void in poured concrete is disclosed. The form has an upper section defined by a plurality of sides, the upper section of plastic composition, and a lower section capable of telescoping into the upper section, the lower section of plastic composition. The telescoping form may be permanent. The telescoping form may have a lid removably mounted to the upper section of the form.